

Cats: Our Feline Friends

Read the passage below and answer the questions on the next page.

Cats are popular pets around the world. They are known for their independent nature, soft fur, and playful personalities. Domestic cats have been kept as pets for thousands of years and have become an important part of many households.

Cats come in many different breeds, sizes, and colors. Some breeds, such as the Siamese and Persian, are well-known for their distinct physical characteristics. Domestic cats can weigh anywhere from 5 to 20 pounds and typically live for 12 to 16 years.

Cats are very agile and are able to jump up to six times their body length in a single leap. They are also known for their hunting abilities and can catch mice, birds, and other small animals with ease.

One of the benefits of owning a cat is that they are relatively low-maintenance pets. They do not require regular walks like dogs, and they groom themselves by licking their fur clean. However, cats do need to be fed, given fresh water, and provided with a clean litter box.

Cats are beloved pets that provide companionship, entertainment, and comfort to their owners. Whether playing with a toy, lounging in a sunny spot, or snuggling up on a lap, cats have a special way of brightening up our lives.

1) What are cats known for, and why are they popular pets?

2. How are cats different from each other?

3) What are some of the physical abilities of cats?

4) How are cats low-maintenance pets?

5) What are some of the benefits of owning a cat?
